

QUALITY CARE IS EQUITABLE CARE

The case for culturally and linguistically responsive health care

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 2020 ♦ 12:30–2:30 PM

SESSION ONE: Unmasking Health Disparities Through a Health Equity Lens

In the first of a 5-part virtual series, we explore the meaning of health equity as the primary lens for assuring quality care for all, particularly minority and disadvantaged patient populations. This session will address:

- ◆ Key health and health care disparities and highlight the role of discrimination as a determinant of these disparities;
- ◆ Current national evidence of health and health care disparities between minorities and non-Hispanic whites in rural areas; and
- ◆ Three demographic megatrends and their implications for the practice of medicine and patient care in a globally mobile world.

SPEAKERS

Carrie Henning-Smith, PhD, MPH, MSW
Associate Professor, University of Minnesota School of Public Health,
Deputy Director, University of Minnesota Rural Health Research Center

David B. Hunt, J.D.
President and CEO, Critical Measures, LLC

Katina Cummings, MCP
Health Workforce Program Manager
Northern Vermont Area Health Education Center (AHEC)

TARGET AUDIENCE

Health care practitioners & managers, public health staff, QI directors, social workers, community health workers,
mental health & addictions counselors,
qualified medical interpreters.

Cost to attend the online session is $35.

REGISTER HERE: <https://tinyurl.com/EquitableCareVT>

Continuing education credits will be available.

This is a program of the Northern Vermont Area Health Education Center (AHEC).
For more information, email ContinuingEd@nvtahcec.org